

Fair Dinkum Aussie

Why?

Having lived in Australia, "The Lucky Country" for 67 years I am disappointed, as I'm sure you are, with the overall drop in society standards.

On the birth of my granddaughter 4 years ago I realised something had to be done to make a difference so this beautiful little girl just like your special children could grow up in a happy, healthy and safe environment.

At the end of the day we have 3 choices:

- Sit on our hands and hope things get better
- Cross our arms and claim it is not our problem
- Put our hand up to offer to make a difference

What we need is the Revival of the fair dinkum aussie spirit!

Simply put it is going back to good old fashioned beliefs and values of treating all people equally and following and promoting values such as being:

Responsible / Respectful / Honest / Caring / Friendly / Fair

...how could you argue with that?

We need a ground swell of hands in the air so we can take this to the Prime Minister, who is charged with leading the country in the best interests of the majority of citizens or stand aside and let someone else do it. We need every caring person to put their hand, give the thumbs up to being fair dinkum and willing to make a difference! Get your friends to do the same and want it too!
